THE CITY OF OAKLAND.

The City of Oakland is located on the Bay of San Francisco, at the western terminus of the Central Pacific Railroad. The extent of the city from east to west is about four and one-half miles, and from north to south three miles. San Antonio Creek forms the southern, and the Bay of San Francisco the western boundary. On the north and east its borders seem destined to a perpetual enlargement. The growing giant must have room. So rapidly do the people come hither to locate, and such is the natural tendency to expansion that it becomes unsafe to venture a prediction as to the ultimate future limits of her municipal area. Berkeley, Temescal and other suburbs will be absorbed, and a city from forty to fifty square miles in extent will be the result at no distant day.

The land upon which Oakland stands was conveyed by the Mexican Government to one of its citizens, Louis Ma Peralta, in the year 1822. The domain remained in possession of Peralta and his sons until 1852, when it was sold, and came into the possession of several American citizens. On the 4th of May, 1852, the Governor of the State approved an act incorporating the Town of Oakland. The population was small, consisting mainly of speculators, and a few scattered Mexicans. But the founders of the town were active and enterprising and soon attracted a considerable accession to the settlement. The beauty of the location and its desirability as a place of residence, was acknowledged by all who visited it, and it soon became evident that early holders of property had every prospect of realizing largely on their investments. The town had been laid out in blocks and lots, the real estate market became active, and population flowed in. So rapidly did the young town progress, that a city government became desirable, the more fully to protect the interests of the people, and on the 25th of March, 1854, an act incorporating the City of Oakland was approved by the Governor. The vote polled at the first charter election was three hundred and sixty-eight, indicating a population of about one thousand. Adult male citizens predominated at that early day. Oakland was now fairly started upon a career of organized progress. The first Mayor was Mr. H. W. Carpentier, who delivered his first message April 9th, 1854. Of the long and embarassing litigation which followed, involving the title to the water front, it is unnecessary to speak, except to state that all subject matters in dispute were happily settled by compromise—but not until 1868. From the date of its incorporation to the present day Oakland has constantly progressed, at times slowly and at other times with marvellous rapidity. A firm and well founded belief has always prevailed among the leading men of Oakland that the city was destined to a brilliant future. Already are the predictions of her pioneers being fulfilled. That great drawback to her prosperity, lack of speedy and certain communication with San Francisco has been removed. The improvement of her harbor to an extent that shall enable the largest ships to come up alongside her wharves is progressing, and will soon be an accomplished fact. David Leeman Emerson, in a recent lecture, has given a glowing prophetic picture of the near future of the city. He says that "the water front will be lined with warehouses, docks and wharves, in front of which shall be safely moored multitudes of steamers and merchantmen from every clime, while along our principal streets costly and spacious edifices devoted to trade shall extend one mile from the waters edge." C. B. McDonald, Esq., in a paper published in the Centennial edition of the Daily Transcript, says: "All that is necessary to establish an extensive commerce on the Oakland side is the completion of the sea wall, the construction of suitable wharfage, and the erection of a few great warehouses and elevators on the vast property belonging to the Water Front Company; then all that portion of trade which shall be in course towards the east will inevitably find its way to the most direct and convenient point of conjunction with the overland railway. No aggregation of capital can retain the seat of commercial empire away from the established highway of commerce; and Oakland being the actual terminus of the overland railway, and having more than the required wharfage, must in time acquire a considerable proportion, if not a preponderance of trade."

Oakland has had, including the present incumbent, nineteen Mayors, as follows: H. W. Carpentier, 1854–5; Charles Campbell, 1855–6; S. H. Robinson, 1856–7; A. Williams, 1857–8, and 1858–9; F. K. Shattuck, 1859–60; J. P. M. Davis, 1860—61 and 1861–2; George M. Blake, 1862–3; W. H. Bovee, 1863–4; Edward Gibbons, 1864–5; B. F. Ferris, 1865–6; J. W. Dwinelle, 1866–7; W. W. Crane jr., 1867–8; Samuel Merritt, 1868-9; John B. Felton, 1869-70 and 1870–71; N. W. Spaulding, 1871–2 and 1872–3; Henry Durant, 1873–4 and 1874–5; Mack Webber, 1875–6, and E. H. Pardee, 1876–7.

Oakland has been described as the most beautiful city on the American continent. Certainly it is one of the most attractive. The site consists of a plain, gently sloping from the waters of the bay to the neighborhood of the foot-hills, where the surface becomes more undulating and is, in some places, diversified by considerable elevations. The rise to the northward and westward throughout Central Oakland is so gradual that to the eye of the observer it is imperceptible, yet it is amply sufficient to allow the perfection of a system of drainage, which is being rapidly inaugurated upon a definite scientific plan. On First street, north of San Antonio Creek, the natural elevation above high water mark is at the intersection of Webster street, two feet eight inches, rising to eight feet nine inches at Second street, to twelve feet four inches at Third street, to fifteen feet at Fourth street, to eighteen feet eight inches at Fifth street, to twenty-four feet five inches at Sixth street, to twenty-seven feet nine inches at Seventh street, to thirty feet nine inches at Eighth street, to thirty-two feet eight inches at Ninth street, to thirty-five feet five inches at Tenth street, to thirty-six feet eight inches at Eleventh street, whence the decline is towards Lake Merritt. The above illustration of the "lay of the land" is generally applicable to all the level portion of Oakland, and shows at a glance admirable drainage facilities. The attention of strangers whose first impressions, derived from the eye alone, may lead them to suppose that the city is located upon a dead level is called to these figures.

The present aspect of Oakland is that of an extended village. The entire plain was originally covered with a luxuriant growth of majestic live oaks, and great care has been taken, both by the municipal authorities and the citizens, to preserve them. The streets are shaded by them, and almost every residence lot is embellished by them; their grateful shade shields the mansion and the cottage from the rays of the sun, and their giant arms protect from the power of the storm. The effect upon the eye of such a vast mass of graceful foliage is pleasant in the extreme. A few moments walk aside from any of the principal business streets, brings one into an atmosphere of repose and rural quiet.

While nature has done so much to render this spot attractive, the skill and enterprise of the arborculturist has greatly increased and diversified its beauty. The climate is so genial that a great variety of trees and shrubs, unknown in Eastern States outside of glass, flourish luxuriantly in the open air. Among the hardy varieties which adorn many of the gardens of the city, and which, according to Mr. James Hutchison, a nurseryman of many years experience in Oakland, stand our winters well, are the magnolia "Grandiflora" and other varieties, many varieties of the palm, the pepper tree, "Schinus Molli;" the eucalyptus or gum tree, which grows with great rapidity and to a great height, nearly all varieties of the acacia, which grows to a size that renders it an excellent shade tree, the "Mespelus Japonica;" the Norfolk Island pine, "Arancaria Excelsia;" the olive, "Olea Verrucosa;" the century plant, "Agave Americana," which has been known to bloom here at the age of twelve years; the Florapenda or "Brugmansia;" the camilia japonica; the "Daphne Odora;" the oleander, "Nerianes;" the lemon, "Aloysia Citriodora;" the verbena; the crape myrtle; fuchsias; heliotropes; pittosporams, abutilons, the Indian Shot, "Canna Indica;" pomegranates, figs and a large number of other ornamental trees and shrubs. Is it remarkable that such a profusion of foliage and bloom as flourishes in this charming city, should attract hundreds of æsthetic tastes to her borders? It would seem that life amid such surroundings must of necessity be colored to the scene, and be infinitely more enjoyable than amid the dust and din and whirling sand of the peninsula.

The natural scenery of Oakland and her suburbs is surpassingly beautiful. The Bay in its front stretches to the northward and the southward, dotted with its clear, sharply outlined islands, and out to that magnificent portal the Golden Gate; the promontories of Marin lift their rugged surface to the sky on the far right, while the whole picture is set as in frame by the encircling San Pablo range of lofty and picturesque hills. These hills approach in some instances the dignity of mountains, and are seamed throughout with the paths of impetuous water courses, full in winter, but only little rills during the summer. The variety of scene is so great and the range so extended that the eye need never be surfeited.

The climate is equable; there are no extremes of heat or cold. Snow never falls and but rarely is the ground whitened by frost. The fierce winds that sweep over the opposite peninsula lose their force and their chill and come to us as moderate breezes to cool the heat of the summer sun. Vegetation flourishes throughout the year, and the greenest and most enjoyable season is that of so-called winter.

The commercial importance of Oakland is dependent upon the completion of her harbor improvements. The bulk of the grain and wool products of California will seek this port as the most natural and convenient point for shipment, and the productions of foreign countries for shipment over the Central Pacific Railroad will be landed at our wharves so soon as the work now in progress is completed. From July 1st to December 31st, 1875, thirty vessels were loaded with wheat for Europe at the Oakland Wharf. The amount reached 140,128,000 pounds or 70,064 tons. The receipts of coal were 73,463 tons. Lumber receipts aggregated over twenty million feet.

As a point for the establishment of large manufacturing industries this city presents many peculiar advantages, prominent among which are her unequalled railroad facilities, and the feasibility of procuring for all time an abundance of cheap fuel. The most extensive establishments now in operation in Oakland or its immediate vicinity are the Pacfic Cordage Company, which supplies the market of San Francisco, and the California Watch Company, formerly known as the Cornell Watch Company, which has removed from San Francisco to Berkeley, a northern suburb. This Company will employ when in full operation, several hundred men. Turk's Manufactory of Preserved Fruit gives employment, during the packing season, to over one hundred and fifty persons. The Standard Soap Company have built a large building in the neighborhood of the water front at Berkeley, and will greatly enlarge their business.

The R. J. Kohler Reduction and Refining Works have been established at Damon's Landing, on the San Leandro Creek, at an outlay of about one hundred thousand dollars.

The Pacific Jute Bag Factory, located in East Oakland, runs one hundred and fifty looms, producing annually more than four millions of sacks, and employing five hundred operatives.

There are also in the city three large flouring mills, four planing mills, two potteries, and three manufactories of artificial stone. There are also three tanneries, and a large number of small establishments for the manufacture of different articles for home use and export.

The manufacturing interest will be greatly benefited by the harbor improvements, which will render the banks of San Antonio Creek available for the prosecution of all branches of manufacturing.

The financial condition of the city, as will be seen by reference to a tabular statement on another page, is encouraging to the tax-payer. The bonded debt is comparatively small, and could be extinguished in a short period without hardship, were such a course desirable.

The claims of Oakland to rank as the educational center of the State are many, and will scarcely be disputed. Several of the largest and most important educational institutions in the State, all in a most flourishing condition, are located here. The remarkable success which has attended the founding and building up to a high and efficient standard of these several institutions is due in a great measure to the adaptability of the location for just such work. Central, convenient of access, in close proximity to the great centers of wealth and population, with a healthful and genial climate, and an appreciative and intelligent population, Oakland presented features which no other city in the State could do, and hence as the result we see established here such institutions as in their number and variety offer to all classes of the people, both at home and abroad, abundant educational facilities. The public schools are most liberally sustained and admirably managed. Reference to an article on the public schools of Oakland, on another page, will be found of interest. The State University, yet in its infancy, is rapidly being developed, under the charge of the best educators of the land, into an institution that shall take rank with the most renowned of the East. There the child of the poorest and humblest individual can secure the highest education attainable, without charge, provided only that his qualifications upon application are sufficient; and no ambitious and intelligent youth but can, with our excellent system of graded public schools, the highest of which is almost a college in itself, attain that proficiency which, with a little additional exertion on his own part, will enable him to pass muster at an examination for admission to the University. Here, too, we have such sterling schools as the Golden Gate Academy, McClure's Military Academy, and Mills Seminary. For polite and useful education, the Convent of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart offers unsurpassed facilities. Candidates for the ministry can become initiated into the mysteries of theology at the Pacific Theological Seminary, an institution conducted by able, learned and earnest divines. Young ladies may find at numerous good select schools besides the instruction they need; and young men seeking a business education can obtain it at several well-known schools, in connection with or separate from other studies. In short, all the educational needs of the rising generation of the city, or of those who come among us for the advantages we have to offer, can be thoroughly supplied. These excellent facilities for the education of the young attract numerous families to our midst to permanently reside here.

The many natural advantages of the location, aided by the energy of a people ambitious to place Oakland foremost among the cities of the Pacific Coast, have combined to effect the wonderful changes of the past few years. From a mere hamlet Oakland has grown to be a city of over thirty-five thousand inhabitants, and is increasing in an accelerated ratio. To sum up the advantages she unquestionably possesses, we may claim that she has at her command a first-class harbor, a superb site for building purposes, a glorious climate, a central location, is the key to the railway system of the State, has the best facilities for manufacturing, and is already the educational center. With an intelligent and enterprising population, backed by all necessary capital, her future will be more brilliant than her past; and whoever professes to make a definite prediction as to her coming greatness may live to wonder at his own moderation in conjecture.

Population of the City.

At the opening of the year 1875 the most reliable estimate placed the population of the city at about 25,000. That estimate was probably not far wrong; it may have been a little too high, certainly it was not too low. At that time there were 2,500 houses in the limits, and about 6,500 children were enrolled as under the age of seventeen. It was impossible to ascertain then, as it is now, the number of voters. Men who are entitled to vote do not always register. In Eastern cities, where a close canvass is made, an approximation may be had based upon the number of voters and school children. Here, where the population is fluctuating, where men do not have time to register, and where the arrival of children is so rapid that the school census taker has hard work to keep up, it is quite probable that any estimate based upon either of those two sources of information might be too low. Cities not half so populous as Oakland poll many more votes, and cities having far larger population return many less school children—therefore, as an experienced statistician, we do not deem any one fact as sufficient to base an intelligent and accurate estimate upon. Should we base it upon the number of children as compared with San Francisco, we should give Oakland a population of fully 42,000, which would be too large—should we base it upon the vote she has cast latterly we be altogether too low. But there is one reliable fact to pin our faith upon, and that is the number of names in the register of this Directory. This number is 10,260. Allowing 3½ inhabitants to each name so registered, there is an apparent population of 35,910. This figure agrees with the estimated increase for the past year and a half. The number of houses in Oakland is 3,413. None of them are empty; few contain less than five inhabitants; hundreds ten, and many from twenty to fifty each. We have obtained this count of the houses from the actual work of our scrupulously careful canvassers, and do not believe that ten occupants to a house is above the probable average. Certain it is that there is no city of the size on the continent that presents so crowded an appearance on its business streets. It is more than probable that Oakland will show a population of fifty thousand by July, 1877, and a hundred thousand by the Federal census of 1880.

Although the year was in many respects an unfavorable one, the aggregate of cultivation and production was much larger than that of any previous year. Throughout the county large tracts of land are being gradually subdivided in order to better meet the wants of great centers of population. The rapid growth of Oakland to her present considerable proportions has created a home market of large capacity, for all that large list of articles produced from the soil, which enter so largely into the economy of the household. Hence, small farmers, poultry and vegetable raisers and orchardists are multiplying, and in consequence the population of the county outside of the city limits is increasing almost as rapidly as the city itself.

THE MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT OF THE CITY OF OAKLAND.

By an Act passed at the last session of the Legislature the ward subdivisions of the city were materially altered. Oakland has now seven wards. We give the boundaries as established by the new law.

First Ward—Comprises all that portion of the city lying west of Adeline street.

Second Ward—Comprises all that portion of the city lying north of Twentieth street and north of Delger street and east of Adeline street.

Third Ward—Comprises all that portion of the city lying east of Adeline street, south of Twentieth and Delger streets, west of Broadway street and north of Tenth street.

Fourth Ward—Comprises all that portion of the city lying west of Broadway street, south of Tenth street and north of the southerly Charter line of the City of Oakland.

Fifth Ward—Comprises all that portion of the city lying east of Broadway street, south of Twentieth and Delger streets, north of Tenth street and west of the line which divides Oakland Township from Brooklyn Township.

Sixth Ward—Comprises all that portion of the city lying east of Broadway street and south of Tenth street.

Seventh Ward—Comprises all that portion of the city lying in Brooklyn Township, now known and designated as East Oakland.

A general election is ordered held on the second Monday of March, 1877, and every two years thereafter, at which all members of the City Council and School Board and other city officers are to be elected, to serve for two years, without pay. The officers elected at the spring election of 1876 hold office until said general election.

Oakland Fire Department.

The Fire Department of Oakland was in a chaotic state until the growth of the city compelled the authorities to select a competent man as chief engineer. It is not necessary to follow the history of the department from its inception to its regeneration and permanent establishment.—Matthew De La Montanya was appointed chief engineer in 1874, and still occupies the position. The service has been brought to a good state of efficiency; a new steamer purchased, and the most that could be made of the available resources utilized. During the year there were thirty-seven fires, involving a loss of $256,220; insurance upon the property destroyed amounted to only $36,300. The most important loss was that of the Deaf, Dumb and Blind Asylum, (outside the limits) $200,000, uninsured.

A Fire Alarm Telegraph, with over ten miles of wire, has been recently constructed, and eight automatic fire boxes provided, which number will soon be largely increased. A gong of enormous sounding power has also been placed in the engine house of Phœnix No. 1 and of Felton No. 2.

The small loss by fire in this city during 1875 may be attributed to the efficiency of the department, especially in rapidity of movement, thereby crushing incipient conflagrations. Could any one of a dozen incipient fires which occurred during the year, have had a few moments more headway, valuable properties would have been destroyed, and tracts, no telling how extensive, of our fair city been laid in ashes. But the tap of the bell or the click of the electrical machine meant instantaneous movement—hence great disasters have been avoided.

The city is now the owner of three engine houses and four lots, viz: A brick engine house on the north side of Sixth street, between Broadway and Washington, built in 1875, accommodating the Felton and Hook and Ladder companies; a house and lot on Fifteenth near Washington, occupied by Phœnix Company No. 1; a lot, with house newly completed thereon of brick one story in height, on Eighth street, between Willow and Campbell, West Oakland. This building accommodates the new steamer; a lot in East Oakland, on East Fourteenth street, between Twelfth and Thirteenth avenues.

It is considered a matter closely concerning the interests of property owners, that a steamer be purchased as soon as practicable to supply the place of Brooklyn No. 3, and a suitable building erected therefor, on the East Oakland property.

COMPANIES.

Phœnix No. 1.—Located on Fourteenth street in the rear of City Hall. Provided with a third-class Amoskeag Engine drawn by two horses; one hose-cart drawn by one horse and carrying 650 feet of hose. The company is full and numbers nine men, as follows: C. Hooley, foreman and extraman; S. Ennis, engineman; George Putnam, stoker; H. Taylor, hose-cart driver; S. Stevenson, N. O'Brien, M. J. Hallahan, Edward Clark and William Ballantyne, extramen.

John B. Felton, No. 2—Located on Sixth, between Broadway and Washington. Is supplied with a second-class Silsby Engine, drawn by two horses, and one hose-cart drawn by one horse and carrying 650 feet of hose. The Company consists of nine men. E. Voorhees, Foreman and Extraman; W. T. Miles, Engineman; C. Briones, Stoker; L. Hoffman, Hose Driver; W. B. Dewes, Extraman and Hose Inspector; P. Howell, J. P. Bennett, E. Cady, P. Reader, Extramen.

Oakland, No. 3—Located in new engine-house on Eighth street, near Wood. This new steamer went into commission April 1st, 1876. It is a second-class Silsby, costing $5,000. William Myles, Foreman; George Demorest, Engineman; William Ennis, Driver; D. Cronion, Hose Driver; J. E. Bacon, P. McQuade, M. M. Kelly, A. H. Myers and John Farrell, Extramen.

Brooklyn, No. 3—This is a volunteer company, with apparatus located on East Twelfth street, East Oakland. It was organized in May, 1869. It is supplied with a hand-engine, of the Jeffries manufacture. The company numbers 53 men. It is probable that this company will soon become a component part of the regular paid Fire Department of Oakland, in which case it will have the title of Brooklyn, No. 4. James Moffatt, Foreman; E. Lawrence, First Assistant; George Lewis, Second Assistant; William Hamilton, President; George Chase, Secretary; H. Tum Suden, Treasurer.

Relief Hook and Ladder Co., No. 1—Located on Sixth street, between Broadway and Washington. The truck is now drawn by two horses. The company is composed of eight men. J. O. Sarpy, Foreman; W. Ennis, Driver; J. G. Robinson, Tillerman; George Farwell, P. Skirrington, E. Campbell, Charles Ellis and J. C. Orr, Extramen.

Cisterns are located as follows: On the corner of Second and Broadway, Third and Broadway, Fourth and Broadway, Eighth and Broadway, Thirteenth and Broadway. The construction of two additional cisterns—one at the intersection of Eighth and Wood streets, and one in East Oakland near Fourteenth street and Twelfth avenue—is proposed and will probably soon be accomplished.

Eleven new hydrants were constructed during 1875, in addition to the fifty-four previously in use. The location of the new hydrants is as follows: Corner Fourteenth and Harrison streets; Webster street, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets; corner Franklin and Bernie streets; corner Broadway and Durant streets; corner Jackson and Fourteenth streets; corner Tenth and Poplar streets; corner Eighth and Filbert streets; corner Fifth avenue and East Fourteenth streets; Harrison street, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets; corner Ninth avenue and East Fourteenth streets; corner Twelfth and Webster streets.

The expenses of the Department for the year are thus summarized:

Rent	324 00
Gas	446 00
Horse purchased	200 00
All other items	1,112 35
Total	$13,749 15

The total value of Department property, per inventory, is $40,075 43.

MUNICIPAL FINANCES.

It is a source of gratification to be able to publish the fact that the financial affairs of the city of Oakland are prudently and honestly managed. The rate of taxation is low, and funds raised by taxes or the sale of bonds are applied strictly to the purposes designed. Tax-payers, therefore, enjoy the satisfaction of receiving something tangible for their contributions. They can see honestly constructed public buildings and street improvements, and enjoy the benefits a well governed and orderly community bestows. Following are the receipts from all sources for 1875 per report of the City Treasurer:

City taxes	$214,627 33
General trader's licenses	31,351 00
Vehicle licenses	552 00
Dog licenses	1,049 50
Police Court	10,084 55
City Wharf	6,801 75
Miscellaneous	5,352 27
Total revenue proper	$269,818 40
Received from sale of bonds (sewer)	158,734 37
Received school moneys from State and county	51,266 16
Total receipts from all sources,	$479,818 93

Following are items of current expenditures for 1875:

Police Department	$17,361 68
Fire Department	13,617 17
Repairs and sprinkling streets	6,903 65
Lighting streets and City Hall	21,812 17
Miscellaneous (salaries city officers, etc.)	24,883 91
Total	$84,578 58

The expenses of the public schools during the year were	$108,429,27
An engine house and hydrants were constructed at a cost of	14,680 20
The construction of the lake sewer absorbed the proceeds of sale of bonds as per above statement	158,734 37

The city has paid all accruing interest on bonds and holds a handsome surplus in the treasury.

Bonded Debt.

The following table shows all particulars concerning the bonded debt of the city:

Date.	Amount.	Payable.	Rate Int.	Amount of Interest Charged.	For what purposes.
1858	$18,400	1878	7	$ 128 80	Old Claims
1868	50,000	1883	10	5,000 00	Erection of city Hall
1868	16,000	1883	10	600 00	Carpentier judgm'nt
1870	70,000	1890	10	7,000 00	Floating Debt
1872	50,000	1892	8	4,000 00	School Buildings
1872	80,000	1903	8	6,500 00	Municipal Purposes
1874	15,000	1903	10	1,500 00	Dredging the Bar
1874	100,000	1905	8	8,000 00	Municipal Purposes
1874	100,000	1905	8	8,000 00	Refunding sch. bond
1875	165,000	1885	8	13,200 00	Lake Sewer
Total	$664,400			54,828 80

The item of $165,000 bonds issued in 1875, were for the construction of the Lake Sewer, and is payable by the property benefited by that improvement, the city only extending its guarantee.

The assessed value of property within the city limits for 1875–6 is $17,351,549. That of Oakland, including the Township outside the city limits, is $22,777,602. Brooklyn Township is $4,926,647. Alameda, $2,033,325. Eden, $3,-313,100. Murray, $2,916,467. Washington, $3,368,411. Total of Alameda County, $395,33,552.

The indebtedness of the county is, funded, $247,944; floating, $143,346. Total, $391,290. The cost of the Court House was $195,380; of the jail, $43,800. Adding the value of the County Infirmary and it will be seen that Alameda County has assets equal to her indebtedness.

Streets.

The natural conformation of the surface of the city obviates the expense of heavy grades, while the abundance of rock in closely neighboring quarries has made good solid highways attainable at moderate cost. The city has generally excellent streets and has a comprehensive system of sewerage. The completion of the great main sewer has provided drainage facilities for nearly the entire city, and the figures given below show that the people are enterprising and determined to maintain their superiority in this respect as well as others. Grading, curbing, macadamizing and the laying of sidewalks has gone forward rapidly during the year.

We publish a detailed statement which we have copied from the Transcript, as best authority, of all street improvements for the year. The location of the work done and the cost of each division of this branch of public improvement will be of interest to many persons, both at home and abroad.

The improvements that have been made by individuals are variously estimated at from $150,000 to $200,000, so that the grading and paving of our streets, the construction of our sidewalks and sewers have cost about one and one-quarter million dollars.

The total cost of the sewers in the city is $254,036 38; their aggregate length is 77,693 feet, or fourteen and seven-tenths miles.

REAL ESTATE.

Activity or depression in the real estate market of any city is a tolerably correct indication of the degree of confidence with which its future is regarded. General causes affecting the whole State or country may for a time reduce the volume of transactions even in the most promising locality, but such diminution of sales will be relatively less than in enterprises kept afloat by speculation only, without firm foundation, or lacking the natural advantages which are absolutely essential to the building up of a great city. For the last ten years, or since the future greatness of Oakland has become an admitted certainty—since conjecture has given place to established fact—real estate has maintained an equable rate of enhancement in values, and has enjoyed at all times a satisfactory degree of activity. Were there a limit to the probable number which her population may attain; could a bound be set, beyond which, it might practically be argued, that her business could no longer expand, then landed property would in some degree lose its firmness, residence grounds would be sought only for purposes of retirement, water lots and business locations would no longer command, as now, the firm faith of the most sagacious men of the day. But there are no such limits or bounds; hence, year after year, real estate advances. It is more and more in demand for commercial purposes, while popularity is too mild a word to apply to the favor in which her suburban plats are held, as the most desirable on the coast for homes.

In the annexed summary we have given the leading transactions of every month of the past year, embracing a description of the property sold and the price named in the deed. Property in this list is located in Oakland, unless otherwise stated. It is believed that the publication of this list of sales, in such form, in a work which will be preserved and consulted to the extent that a reliable city directory is, from year to year, will be of general interest and advantage. It will be seen by the tables that the sales for 1875 were much larger than ever before. Important sales on the water front for commercial purposes will attract the attention both of those who believe and those who doubt that Oakland is destined to become the great seaport of the Pacific Coast. One very noticeable and pleasant feature of the transactions is the great proportion of purchases for immediate improvement as homesteads. Very little speculative spirit is shown by the figures, thou in a city that has the splendid future before it that Oakland has, the owner must be a very matter of fact person indeed, who does not lift the veil of the coming years, and modify his ideas somewhat by what he beholds there.

To the Oakland Real Estate Circular, published by F. S. Page, at 1007 Broadway, we are indebted for the valuable information embraced in the summary of the year's transactions. Following are the most important sales in each month:

IMPROVEMENTS.

A very general and continuous activity in building has prevailed throughout Oakland and its suburbs for several years past. Accurate statistics place the number of buildings erected in 1874 at 1,063. In the absence of such statistics for the year 1875 we have availed ourselves of the observations of the Oakland Transcript in general terms: Three churches have been erected—the First Presbyterian at a contract price of $52,000, the First Methodist at a cost of about $30,000, and a Methodist Church in West Oakland. In hotel accommodations the city has gained during the year the "Centennial," on Fourteenth street near the City Hall, at a cost of $40,000, and the Central Pacific, on the corner of Webster and Eleventh streets, costing $9,000. Among the more prominent buildings erected for business purposes are the Union Bank (addition) $6,000; Delger's Block, $18,000; C. P. R. R. passenger depot, $7,000; A. Geshard's, $10,000; Jacob Samm's Flouring Mill, with five run of stone; G. M. Blair and California Bridge Company; a planing mill 40 by 50 feet; a stair factory 50 by 75 feet, and P. S. Wilcox's warehouse on First street, with a storage capacity of 5,000 tons.

A goodly number of elegant and costly residences were added to the already numerous private edifices of the city. In nothing is the confidence of the moneyed men of Oakland better illustrated than in their willingness to invest largely in elegant homesteads. The following named citizens have built houses, during the past year, ranging in cost from $8,000 to $40,000 each: W. W. Cameron, E. C. Sessions, J. E. Whitcher, J. M. Walker, J. B. Ford, C. W. Howard, L. C. Perez, W. B. Hardy, J. W. Phillips, M. Vincent and M. Hoffschneider. The Real Estate Associates and the Central Land Company have built many houses, which, selling on the installment plan find ready purchasers.

The cost of buildings erected in 1875 is estimated at $1,750,000 by the most conservative judges, while others place the figures at $2,000,000 or over. A greater number of cheap dwellings sprang up, for the immediate use of the crowd of incomers, than ever before. These inexpensive but necessary adjuncts to the growth of the city swell the number of new structures largely, while augmenting the aggregate value comparatively little. Altogether, it is estimated that about sixteen hundred buildings of every description were added to the city during 1875. It is not our purpose here to speak of the temporary effect which the financial panic experienced in San Francisco in August may have had upon building enterprises in Oakland. The cloud was but a transient one, and will not change the grand aggregate of the year's work materially.

The building prospect for 1876 is flattering. New structures are being daily commenced, architects are busily engaged, and the familiar sound of the saw and hammer never ceases. The growth of Oakland and suburbs will be greater during the current year than ever before in a like period of time.

EDUCATIONAL.

The Public Schools of Oakland.

In no city of the State are the public schools more liberally sustained than in this, the educational centre of California. Commodious, first-class buildings have been erected, and the best of talent employed that liberal salaries can secure. The pupil can fit himself for the University in these perfectly graded people's colleges. As figures are facts, we can do no better than present the tabular statements furnished by the Transcript, regarding the operations of the School Department for 1875:

FINANCIAL.

The expenditures of the School Department, during the year 1875, were as follows:

Salaries of teachers	$ 67,620 93
Salaries of clerk, supt. and janitors.	7,053 52
Light, water and rents	1,770 16
Furniture	6,096 74
Books and supplies	1,839 23
Building	13,385 38
Fuel	1,519 50
Repairs	2,448 03
Incidentals	6,695 78
Total	$108,429 27

GENERAL STATISTICS.

The following statistics are from the official census, taken in June, 1875:

Children under 5 years of age	2,482

The increase since last year of children under 5 years of age has been 312, or 14 4-10 per cent.; increase of those between 5 and 17, 882, or 22 8-15 per cent.

The growth of the schools, public and private, is shown by the table which we copy below. It is from the report of Superintendent Campbell, to whom we are indebted for much interesting information concerning the department under his supervision. Following is a statement of the number of children of school age, who have attended public, private and no school, for the last thirteen years:

There are ten school buildings, sixty-three classes, and sixty-five teachers.

The total number enrolled, for each month in the year, was as follows:

January	2,931	August	3,442
February	2,914	September	3,433
March	2,985	October	3,451
April	2,965	November	3,463
May	2,838	December	3,286
July	3,443

The value of the property owned by the department is thus given by the Superintendent: land $122,700; buildings

$115,000; furniture $16,000; total $253,700. The amount of debt incurred by the city in the purchase of real estate and in the erection of school houses is $162,000. Secretary Campbell reports the following as correct estimates of the value of the several properties owned by the School Department:

High School	$39,500 00

A new school building has been recently completed. It is located on the corner of Seward and Campbell streets. The building contains four rooms and will accommodate 250 pupils. It is called the "New Prescott." The cost of building and lot is $9,000. This addition to the school facilities of that section was imperatively needed.

The University of California.

The University of California is located at Berkeley, the most northerly suburb of Oakland, situated about four and one-half miles from the city, and is reached by a horse railway from Oakland, and by ferry from San Francisco. That the site was well chosen may be seen by the following from the (manuscript) report of Professor Soulé.

"The diversified character of the surface brings into use all the principles of surveying and topography. It is in area 200 acres, is watered by numerous springs in the hills. With the spring water and surface water saved, the grounds can be thoroughly irrigated throughout the year, and made to blossom as the rose. The lower portion of the grounds is flat and moist throughout the year, and will nourish such trees, flowers and shrubs as require such soil. Then there is a higher plateau, upon which the various buildings have been or are to be located, forming the campus proper. Beyond, toward the Monte Diablo Range, the ground rises into hills, the highest of which is 884 feet above tide water, and 584 feet above the base of the south college. The average height of the tract is 400 feet above tide water. The hilly portion could be well utilized for forestry. The University is supplied with water from a reservoir of 38,000 gallons capacity, situated at the foot of Strawberry Canon, and at an elevation of 205 feet above the basement of the south college. It will carry water entirely over any building contemplated. Strawberry Creek is for a large portion of the year a beautifully clear stream; during the winter it discharges an enormous quantity of water, and runs between steep banks ten to fifteen feet in depth, and with a span of from 30 to 100 feet. Along it are found many shady, quiet nooks, gracious to the scholar, philosopher and naturalist. The soil of the lower portion of the site is a deep rich adobe, capable of being wrought into a soil of great productiveness; on the plateau it is a lighter kind; on the hills there is a thin soil of decomposed shale rock, etc. It would be difficult to find within so small an area as the University site a spot with so many varieties and capabilities in the way of soils, irrigation and exposure." The view, too, is magnificent. Facing the Golden Gate, the eye takes in the whole peninsula at a sweep, with its great mart of commerce, its shipping, and the bold yet lovely islands that deck the bay, while to the eastward the towering hills afford a fine background of relief to the eye, as it turns from the extended plain below.

The Constitution of the State requires the legislature to provide for the maintenance of a university, and in March, 1868, a law was passed, creating and organizing the University of California. The State appropriated $200,000 from the sale of tide lands, as part of the Endowment Fund. A "Seminary and Public Building Fund," amounting to $100,000, existed, which was made another part of the endowment, while the old College of California, which had been in existence since 1855, and had accumulated a large property, transferred it entire to the University; this latter property was valued at $120,000. Congress had already made a donation of 150,000 acres of land for the establishment of an Agricultural College in California. Nothing could be more pertinent or proper than making the Agricultural College a part and portion of the University, and it was done. This combination of circumstances gives the University a very handsome Endowment Fund, which will be largely increased from the advance in real estate held by it under the grants. Two large and commodious buildings were occupied, though not fully completed, at the commencement of the college year, in September, 1873.

The south hall is of brick, one hundred and fifty-two feet in length, average width fifty-six feet, and four stories in height. It contains thirty-four rooms, six of which are thirty-two by forty-eight feet in size.

The north hall is built of wood, is one hundred and sixty-six feet in length, average width sixty feet and four stories in height. It is divided into twenty-eight rooms. The assembly room is forty-three by fifty-eight feet, and the philosophical lecture room thirty-six by fifty-eight feet. The cost was $357,000.

The institution embraces seven distinct Colleges as follows: Scientific, Agriculture, Mechanics, Engineering, Chemistry, Mining and Medicine.

In the College of Letters the Degree conferred is that of A.B.; in the College of Science, Bachelor of Philosophy, and in the College of Medicine, M.D.

College of Agriculture.—Instruction is given by experimental and illustrated lectures, recitations, essays and class discussions, and in the practical illustration of principles upon the University grounds.

College of Mechanics.—This college educates mechanical engineers and machinists. Advanced classes are instructed in civil engineering to the extent necessary for the purposes of this college, including Mathematics, Physics and Theoretical Mechanics. Special attention is given to Industrial Drawing, with view to thorough education in the principles of construction of machinery.

College of Mining.—In this college are given courses of lectures on Chemistry, Metallurgy, Geology, Minerology and Engineering. The laboratories are ample to conduct the most refined investigation.

College of Engineering.—The object of this college is to give thorough instruction in those studies which pertain to the profession of a civil engineer. In the advanced years instruction is also given in Physics, Geology, Zoology in literary branches, including Modern Languages, History and Political Economy.

College of Letters.—The College of Letters maintains two courses, the Classical and the Literary. The former is identical with the general course of studies in the great colleges of the Eastern States and England. The latter affords a most complete and thorough training in its special studies.

College of Medicine—Is held at Toland Hall, in San Francisco, and affords ample opportunities for acquiring the highest degree of excellence in the theories of the profession.

Applicants for admission should be at least sixteen years of age, and bring satisfactory testimonials. Young ladies as well as young men are received as students. There is no charge whatever for tuition.

The number of students now attending the University is reported in the annual catalogue as follows: Seniors 34, Juniors 27, Sophomores 56, Freshman 155.

ACADEMY DEPARTMENT.

In the management of this department three objects are made prominent. First, to provide for the young men and women of this Coast sure advantages for obtaining such fitness for college and university as to prepare them to realize the highest results from their after study. In the academic, classical and English courses, the student will find such studies as are necessary to a thorough preparation for university courses. Any who have a partial preparation, whose studies have been interrupted, will usually find here classes which they can enter without loss of time. By far the larger class of students do not expect to pursue a collegiate course, yet desire an English education more or less complete. These will find in the English course a complete curriculum of English study, special attention being paid to English composition, grammar, language-lessons, and other studies bearing upon our much neglected mother tongue.

A system of daily marking is observed in all departments of the school, and a weekly report of the scholarship and deportment of each pupil is made out and read before the assembled school every Tuesday morning. Each separate report is transferred to postal card and sent to the parent or guardian interested, so that week by week he is kept informed of the progress of those whom he has in the school.

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

This department has two divisions—a grammar room and a primary, The grades correspond very nearly to those in the public schools; however, examinations for promotion are held quarterly, so that those capable of rapid advancement are not necessarily detained a whole year in one grade.

The building occupied by this department was built with special reference to its accommodation, and is a model of convenience in every respect. There are some thirty rooms, large and well ventilated, furnished with single beds, and as the building faces east and west, they are open to the morning or afternoon sun.

Many of the boys who have been for some time in the Institution, have carpeted their rooms and adorned the walls with pictures, making for themselves perfect little homes, in which they take great pride.

The matron resides in the building, and gives her entire time and attention to superintending the home life. The rooms are carefully inspected each day; the clothing attended to, and in her the boys find a sympathizing friend. Some four acres are set apart as a playground for this department. Thus, while giving ample room for out-door sports and exercise, they are separated from the boys of the Academy Department.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT.

In this department it is designed to afford young men a thorough practical preparation for business; something that shall serve them in the same stead as though they had acquired their experience in the office of the most rigid and exacting business man. The Business Course of instruction embraces three departments: Theoretical, Junior or Actual Business, and Senior or Banking and Office Department.

THEORETICAL DEPARTMENT.

In this department the student is made acquainted with the whole theory of general business, including correspondence, bookkeeping in all its branches, the forms and uses of commercial paper, such as drafts, notes, bills of exchange, powers of attorney, deeds, bonds, etc.

JUNIOR OR ACTUAL BUSINESS DEPARTMENT.

Here the student is assigned his office desk, and furnished with a capital, consisting of cash, real estate and stocks, corresponding to the business in which he is first to engage. Here the student is taught the application of the principles learned in the preceding department, and it is designed not only to afford him veritable experience in the practical management of a set of books, but also in all details of business as occurring in the daily experience of merchants, bankers, brokers, etc. Everything is conducted here on a real money, merchandise and business paper basis. It is regulated by a standard chronicle of trade and prices current, which is daily revised and corrected by the city market. Some sixty thousand dollars in commercial currency have been issued, and are in circulation in this department.

SENIOR OR BANKING AND OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

In this department are the Railroad, Steamboat, Express, Real Estate and Insurance offices, the First National Bank, and the Golden Gate Commercial College Bank. This bank is conducted in every respect the same as our city banks, there being no difference in regard to the manner of doing business, or in keeping the accounts.

PENMANSHIP.

A special department of penmanship in connection with the commercial department affords unequalled facilities for imparting a knowledge of the art. The special course of penmanship embraces business and epistolary writing, fancy lettering, pen-drawing, and India-ink shading, or if the student prefers, he can spend the whole of the prescribed time, six months, in the acquirements and practice of an elegant and rapid business and epistolary hand.

TELEGRAPHY.

There are altogether three offices in the various buildings of the Institution, one connected with the Western Union Telegraph Co., others in connection with a private line. The offices are in charge of a skillful sound operator.

INSTRUCTORS.

J. N. Haskins, Latin and Rhetoric.
A. E. Kellogg, Greek, History and English Composition.

Mills Seminary.

This is a large and admirably conducted institution devoted to the culture and education of young ladies. It is delightfully situated at Fruit Vale, at the foot of the San Pablo range of hills, in the midst of charming and romantic scenery. The location is all that could be desired, in all that concerns health and beauty. It is sheltered from the fierce westerly winds, and escapes the unpleasant penetrating fog. This Seminary was opened in 1871, and, although now private property, it is the design of the founders to make it a permanent institution. The grounds embrace fifty acres, adorned with fine oaks, through which winds a stream of water, rendering the verdure fresh at all seasons. The main building is 218 feet in length, with a wing 136 feet deep, two stories high, surmounted with a Mansard roof. It has accommodations for two hundred pupils. California Military Academy.

Rev. David McClure. Principal. Location on east side of Telegraph avenue near Prospect avenue. This school was established in January, 1865, by the present proprietor and principal. There are three buildings, each three stories high, connected by corriders. The symmetrical development and discipline of the mind and the formation of a good physical constitution are the prime objects of the system of instruction. The military system of drilling and discipline has been adopted to secure physical culture, promptness, presence of mind and its attendant results. The Legislature of California in 1872 passed an act to "Commission the Commandant of this Academy as Major in the National Guard of California," and to furnish the cadets with arms and accoutrements. The scholastic year is divided into two terms of twenty weeks each, beginning respectively on the third Wednesday of July and the first Wednesday in January.

Pacific Theological Seminary.

Located on Academy Hill. This institution had its origin in San Francisco, in 1869, and was removed to Oakland in 1871. A thorough theological education, fitting candidates for the ministry, is given in a course embracing three years. There is no charge whatever for tuition or rooms, and aid is extended to those who take the full course and are especially needy. Rev. J. A. Benton, D. D., Professor of Sacred Literature; Rev. George Mooar, Professor of Theology; Rev. A. L. Stone, San Francisco, President; Rev. W. C. Pond, Secretary of the Board.

Convent of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart.

This institution was founded in 1868, by the Sisters of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary, under the patronage of the Rev. M. King, pastor of Oakland. It is located near the head of Lake Merritt, on Webster street. An elegant and substantial building, three stories in height, one hundred and ten feet in length, and seventy-five feet deep, was erected in 1873–4. This building is supplied with all modern improvements for the comfort and convenience of the pupils. The basement contains a gymnasium; the first floor contains parlors, music rooms, museum and library. The library consists of a thousand volumes, generally of a highly useful and instructive class of books. The second story contains class-rooms, oratory and recreation halls. Lying on the shores of the lake, the young ladies have the privilege of enjoying the pastime and healthful exercise of boating.

The course of study embraces the elementary branches, the higher English branches, modern languages, literature, drawing, painting, music, ornamental needle-work, etc. The pupils are also instructed in those highly essential arts, good cooking and plain sewing. The number of pupils is nearly one hundred.

State Deaf, Dumb and Blind Institute.

This institution is located near the State University at Berkeley. The farm consists of one hundred and thirty acres, eighty acres of which are on the hills fronting the bay. Pure water is supplied by hillside springs, and the elevated site ensures the purest of air. Altogether, a better location could not have been chosen. So healthful is the spot, that it is recorded that no case of sickness, sufficiently severe to require watching by night, occurred for two years among one hundred and twenty-five inmates. On the 17th of January, 1875, the beautiful and costly stone building occupied by the institution was destroyed by fire, and the exigencies of the case, with more than a hundred helpless unfortunates to shelter and provide for, were indeed great. But the spirit of energy, coupled with that of benevolence, which inspires the citizens of Alameda County, found means to build a temporary structure without delay and, as early as April 21st, three months from the time of the disaster, the school was again opened.

The course of studies pursued at this Institute is very nearly the same as that embraced in the public schools and in the seminaries, with the addition of music, which is taught the blind as a means of obtaining a livelihood. The institution is sustained by the State, but clothing and traveling expenses must be provided by the parents or guardians of the children, except in cases of extreme poverty, when a proper certificate from the County Judge will authorize the directors to supply clothing.

The management of the institution is entrusted to a Board of five Directors, appointed by the Governor. The present Board consists of the following named gentlemen: J. Mora Moss, Oakland; H. H. Haight, Alameda; E. J. Crane and D. D. Shattuck, San Francisco. Warring Wilkinson, Principal. D. D. Shattuck is Secretary and Treasurer.

A committee of ladies, consisting of Mrs. L. A. Booth, Mrs. C. P. Hamilton, Mrs. H. M. Bingham, Mrs. H. P.

Livermore, Mrs. Mary Brayton and Mrs. J. B. Harmon, conduct the internal and domestic arrangements.

THE STREET RAILROAD SYSTEM.

Franchises for street railroads in Oakland have been greatly in demand. A number have been secured, and no less than six routes are now running. Several more are contemplated. These roads will all pay well until the inventing genius of some practical man shall place speedy locomotion within the reach of the people. As it is, people are well accommodated in Oakland. They can go north or south, east or west, without walking—though not so rapidly perhaps as they might wish, still, it is a ride. The fare on all the roads is ten cents for a single ticket, or four tickets for a quarter.

Oakland Railroad—This road extends from the foot of Broadway to Berkeley, a distance of five and a half miles. The route is via Broadway and Telegraph avenue. J. S. Emery, President; George Y. Loring, Secretary; J. W. Knox, Treasurer.

San Pablo Railroad—This road runs from the corner of Seventh and Broadway to Oakland Park. The route is on Broadway and San Pablo avenue. The road is two miles in length. J. S. Emery, President; George Y. Loring, Secretary; J. W. Knox, Treasurer.

Broadway and Piedmont Railroad—This road runs from Seventh and Washington via Fourteenth, Broadway and Webster to the Mountain View Cemetery, a distance of about three miles. Walter Blair, President; Montgomery Howe, Secretary and Superintendent.

Brooklyn and Fruit Vale Railroad—This road runs from Brooklyn station via Thirteenth avenue to the east end of Fruit Vale avenue, a distance of about two and one-half miles. C. T. Hopkins, President; E. C. Sessions, Secretary; J. B. Webster, Treasurer.

Fruit Vale and Mills Seminary Railroad—Brooklyn station on Fourteenth street and via county road and High St.

New Street Railroad Grants.

Grants of permission for the construction of the following street railroad lines were awarded by the city government during the year 1875:

To W. A. Bray, E. M. Derby, J. West Martin and E. C. Sessions, the right to construct and maintain, for twenty-five years, a street railroad, begining where East Fourteenth street intersects the East boundary line of the city, running thence westerly to Fifteenth avenue, thence southerly to East Twelfth street, thence westerly to Fourteenth Avenue, thence southerly to right-of-way of Central Pacific Railroad Company. Also for a branch from the intersection of the East line of Fifteenth avenue with East Fourteenth street, westerly to Thirteenth avenue, thence southerly to East Eleventh street, thence easterly to intersection of East Eleventh street and right-of-way of Central Pacific Railroad Company.—Work to be commenced within one year and completed within three years.

To C. T. Hopkins, J. V. Webster and E. C. Sessions, the right to maintain a street railroad, for twenty-five years, commencing at East Eleventh street 100 feet West from Thirteenth avenue, thence easterly to Thirteenth avenue, thence northerly to East Twenty-second street, thence easterly 300 feet, thence northerly through the lands of Haynes and others to County road number 1135, thence easterly to Fruit Vale avenue. Work to be commenced within one year and completed within three years.

To Walter Blair and M. and S. Howe the right to maintain a street railroad, for twenty-five years, from the center line of Broadway and Fourteenth streets westerly to Washington street, thence southerly to First street. Work to be commenced within one year and completed within three years.

THE OAKLAND FERRY.

Following are statistics of travel on this ferry between San Francisco and Oakland for 1875. The accommodations on this line are all that could be desired and the fares moderate, single trip tickets are sold at fifteen cents, and monthly commutation tickets, entitling the holder to cross daily, once each way, are sold at three dollars:

Round trips.....	595,175	Total for 1875.....	4,028,310
Single trips	1,802,190	Total for 1874.....	3,192,904
Com. (17,183).....	1,630,945	Total for 1873.....	2,655,671

MORTUARY REPORT.

The report of the health officer for 1875 shows that Oakland maintains her high reputation as one of the healthiest cities of the continent. We quote the following:

There were 338 deaths—183 males and 155 females. Of these decedents, 89 were born in Oakland, 40 in California, outside of Oakland, 116 in the United States, outside of California, and 93 in foreign countries. There were 131 who were married, 61 who were single, and 146 children.

There were 524 births—271 males and 253 females.

The population of the city is 25,000.

The death rate last year was 12.88 per thousand; in 1874 it was 12.65 and in 1873 it was 14.43.

There were 127 decedents under five years, 16 of whom were still-born. This gives the rate of mortality of children of that class at 35.8 per thousand. In 1874 it was 42.04 and in 1873 it was 53. This diminution in the death rate among children is quite remarkable. During the year ending June 30, 1875, the death rate among the children in San Francisco was 52 per thousand. In other words, of a thousand children who are in San Francisco at the beginning of the year, 52 will die before its close. In Oakland, with a similar number, there were 16 deaths less.

Oakland has pure water, a good system of drainage, an equable climate, free alike from the fogs and winds which are such powerful agents in promoting those diseases resulting from colds and the long list of pulmonary and bronchial affections, hence the exceedingly low death rate is not a matter of surprise, but only a logical result of the favorable conditions of her surroundings.

Street Guide.

Oakland is regularly laid out, streets generally crossing each other at right angles. The numbering of streets running North and South begin at South Front Street; and that on streets running East and West on East Front Street. Fifty numbers are allotted to each block, except in instances where it is necessary to use a less or greater number to carry out the general plan, which is that the numbers on each tier of blocks shall be identical throughout the city. Numbers have been placed on the houses in only a limited portion of the city, hence there is great difficulty in correctly locating the inhabitants. Recently, however, by the enterprise of the proprietors of Bishop's Directory, a general numbering of the houses throughout the entire city has been inaugurated, an improvement which will greatly facilitate the publication of the Directory, and which will be of great benefit and convenience to the public.

HEALD'S BUSINESS COLLEGE

24 POST STREET, SAN FRANCISCO.

The Leading Institution of Business Training on the Pacific Coast.

This is the only school in San Francisco that makes a Business Education its distinct and separate specialty. Its teachers are competent and experienced. Its pupils are from the best class of young men in the State. It is under the very best discipline. Its Scholarships are good in the THIRTY-SIX Bryant & Stratton Colleges. It employs four of the best penmen in the State. It has the largest rooms, the largest attendance, and the most complete system of business training, of any commercial school on the Pacific.

YOUNG MEN AND LADIES

Wishing to prepare themselves for the practical duties of life, will find this the best school. Pupils learn just what they need to accomplish success, and do not meddle with superfluous studies. Each student receives separate instruction, and can thus advance as rapidly as desired, not being kept back by those more deficient. All persons passing the final examination in a satisfactory manner, will receive our finely-engraved GRADUATING DIPLOMA Graduates of this College are in demand among Business Men, and can readily find good positions. Such as are in good standing are assisted in obtaining situations, if desired.

OUR BUSINESS COURSE

Is especially adapted to the wants of young and middle-aged men, who wish to prepare for the active duties of life, whether as book-keepers, salesmen, merchants, bankers, professional men, or even farmers or mechanics.

THEORY AND PRACTICE

Are combined in such a manner as to make each a powerful help to the other.

The Student Buys, Sells, Ships, Barters, Consigns, Discounts, Insures, Draws Checks, Notes, and Drafts, Gives Leases, Deeds, etc. and goes through the entire routine of actual business. He becomes acquainted with changing books from Single to Double Entry, and vice versa, and also with Joint-Stock and Partnership Books, and every form and style of Book-Keeping practised in well regulated Business houses. Jobbing, Importing, Commission, and Banking are carried on with the students of the other Colleges in the Association—thus fully illustrating the methods of carrying on business and keeping books when there are different currencies. The pupil becomes familiar with all the calculations and entries connected with Legal Tender and Gold transactions.

SESSIONS CONTINUE DAY AND EVENING.

Clerks, mechanics, and others engaged during business hours, can secure a sound Mercantile Education by attending evenings only. There are no class systems to keep the pupil back; each can advance as rapidly as desired. No particular age or degree of advancement is required to enter the College. We have in operation an

ACADEMIC DEPARTMENT,

Where all the branches of an ordinary English Education are taught, for those who are too young or not sufficiently advanced for the Business Course. Visitors are always welcome at the College.

Pacific Business College,

No. 320 Post Street, San Francisco.

THE LEADING COMMERCIAL COLLEGE ON THE COAST!

Elegant Halls; New Furniture; Thorough Instruction; Practical Teachers; Perfect Discipline; Large Number of Students; High Standing with the Public.

This is the oldest College in San Francisco that makes a Business Education its distinct and separate specialty. Its graduates who hold lucrative and responsible positions are more numerous than those from all the other Business Colleges on the Coast. It is the only College that issues Life Scholarships for a full Business Course. It is centrally located, on Post Street, opposite Union Square, in one of the most quiet and pleasant situations in the city. It has the most commodious and elegantly furnished halls, and the most complete system of actual business training.

YOUNG AND MIDDLE-AGED MEN,

Wishing to prepare themselves for the practical duties of life, at the least expense of time and money, will find this the best school. Students learn just what they need to insure success. A Diploma from this College is of great value to a young man in gaining a foothold in business. No young or middle-aged man is now considered fully qualified for the active duties of life, and the demands of business, unless he enjoys the advantages of a thorough commercial education. A course of commercial training is no less important to the mechanic, the farmer and the manufacturer, than to the merchant and banker.

THE BUSINESS COURSE.

The Business Course is far more thorough and extensive than that of any other Business College. Our practical system of Actual Business Teaching is the best ever introduced into any school. It combines

THEORY AND PRACTICE

In such a manner as to make each an essential help to the other, and the School-room and Counting-room are united upon a plan that secures to the student all the practical advantages of each. There is in active operation a Banking House with Checks, Drafts, Notes, Bills of Exchange, Certificates of Deposit, etc., fully illustrating the Banking business.

The student Buys, Sells, Ships, Barters, Consigns, Discounts, Insures, Draws Checks, Notes and Drafts, Gives Leases, Deeds, etc., and goes through the entire routine of actual business. He becomes acquainted with changing books from Single to Double Entry, and vice versa; and also with Joint Stock and Partnership Books, and every style and form of book-keeping practiced in well-regulated Business Houses. By this system the student receives, while in the school, the same practice in conducting business affairs that he would in a bona fide Bank, Office, or Counting-house. Each student receives individual attention from the teachers, and can thus advance as rapidly as his ability will permit.

SPECIAL INFORMATION.

Time of Enterino—There are no term divisions and no vacations. Students can enter at any time during the year with equal advantage.

Qualifications for Entering.—A fair knowledge of the common English branches is all that is required to commence the Business Course, though the better the educational foundation a student has the more rapid and successful his progress. Students not sufficiently advanced to commence the Business Course, can make arrangements to receive the necessary preparatory instruction in the Academical Department.

School Hours.—Day Sessions are from 9 to 12 A. M. and from 1 to 4 P. M. Evening Sessions are from 7 to 9 during the entire year.

Discipline.—The discipline of all the departments is very strict; the student is required to be regular in attendance, earnest in his application to study, and kind, courteous and dignified in his deportment to teachers and associate students.

Visitors.—Visitors are always welcome—and especially the parents and friends of students and the friends of education. The best time, usually, to see the working of the different departments, is from 10 to 12 A. M., but there is no hour during the daily exercises when visitors will not receive proper attention.

THE PACIFIC BUSINESS COLLEGE REVIEW,

Published by the College, contains full particulars regarding the Courses of Instruction, Expenses etc.; also a large amount of interesting reading. It may be had, free of charge, either at the College office, 320 Post Street, opposite Union Square, or by addressing

ALAMEDA DIRECTORY.

THE TOWN OF ALAMEDA.

The Town of Alameda was incorporated by an Act of the Legislature in 1872. It embraces the entire township of Alameda and is, in extent, about two and one-half miles from east to west, and about seven miles in length from north to south. The population is variously estimated at from 3,500 to 4,500.

The location is exceedingly attractive, the site being covered with a growth of live oak. The climate is excellent, the air warm, mild and invigorating. Many families from San Francisco avail themselves of this sheltered spot as an escape from the fierce winds which rage at the city from March to October.

Communication with Oakland and San Francisco is via the Central Pacific Railroad, which runs twelve trains each way daily, and three additional trains on Sundays. Monthly tickets, entitling the holder to a round trip daily to and from San Francisco, are sold for three dollars Alameda has bright prospects ahead. There is every reason that a populous and wealthy town will be built up. Its growth is constant and at the present time quite rapid.

Real estate is held at fair prices, choice residence lots, 50 by 100 feet, selling at from $400 to $700 each, cheaper lots at $150 to $300. The best business property is worth $25 to $40 per front foot Alameda has two dry good stores, five groceries, one hardware and two drug stores.

There are two well kept hotels, the Yosemite and the Loyal Oak.

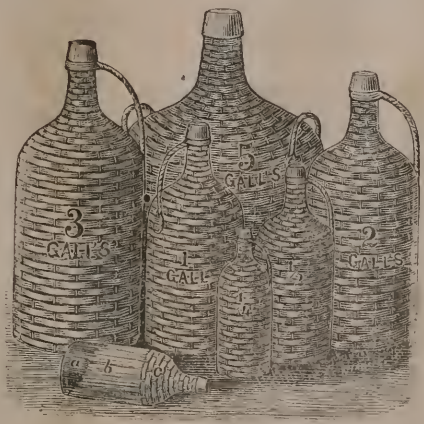
Manufacturers of all kinds of GREEN and BLACK GLASSWARE.

All kinds of Plain and Lettered Bottles furnished at Short Notice.

C. Newman's Improved Elastic Demijohn.

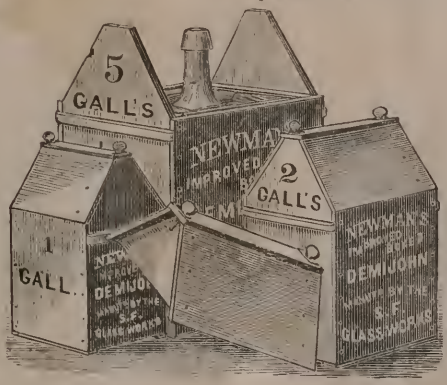
[Patented January 26, 1875.]



By referring to the engraving, in the foreground will be seen a bottle partially covered: a represents the glass, b the tule reed, and c the wicker work. It will be seen that the bottle is first covered with the tule reed—a soft elastic substance—forming a cushion, on which the rattan is woven. By this means the bottle is doubly protected, and made doubly valuable, from its immunity from breakage. Its advantages are so many and obvious, that it needs no argument to prove its merits. Those who use Demijohns will see at once the superiority it possesses over all other covered bottles.

Newman's Improved Box Demijohn.

[Patented March 30th, 1875.]



These Boxed Demijohns are the simplest, best and cheapest in the market. They are neat in appearance, compact, and securely packed, and are always ready for shipment by any conveyance, without danger of breakage. They will save 50 per cent. in freight. The Demijohn in the box being glass, cannot destroy the flavor of the liquid, and consequently should take the place of wooden kegs for all purposes.
